

St. John's Tops Buff In Garden

Matt Zunic Bids
For All-American
Honors in Game

BULLETIN

• NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—St. John's Redmen scored their 11th win of the season tonight in Madison Square Garden by defeating George Washington University's Colonial cagers in the first game of a twin bill. The loss gave the Colonials a season record of six wins and six defeats.

• NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Faced with their first real test in weeks, the Colonial cagers took the hardwood tonight against the St. John's Redmen in the first game of a doubleheader in Madison Square Garden.

Capt. Matt Zunic, high-scoring Buff star, made his first appearance on a New York City court in his drive for All-American honors. In place of the injured Edsel Gustafson at center, Coach Bill Reinhart started Ted Reichwein, lanky 6 foot 3 inch sophomore.

It was the eleventh meeting between the two teams in their modern series. St. John's holds a 6-4 advantage over the Colonials despite the Buff's win in Washington last year.

Lapchick vs. Reinhart Duel

Before Garden tournament scouts in Washington's Riverside Stadium last season Reinhart's quint routed the famed Redmen 59-42 in their best game of the year.

As a sidelight to the battle is the personal duel between the two coaches—Reinhart and Joe Lapchick of St. John's. Since the two mentors first opposed each other, each has scored two victories and tonight's battle will decide the issue.

This is G. W.'s first game in New York City in several years and St. John's was the last Colonial opponent in the big city.

Zunic May Be Drafted

Rapid overwhelming favorites, the Redmen went after their 11th win in 14 games this year in the Garden tonight. The Buff cagers carry a four-game winning streak into the contest and have a season record of 6-5.

Coach Reinhart disclosed just before the game that it may be one of the last for Zunic, who has passed his Army physical exam and has been classified A-1. However, if the great G. W. forward is drafted, he will probably see action once more when his team faces Furman in the nation's capital Thursday night.

"I wouldn't be surprised if I lose Zunic in a week," the Colonial coach sobbed.

Buff Hopes Similar to 1941

Leading the St. John's five on the shot was Capt. Jim White, long-shoot artist and a leading scorer. Another crack ace who appeared to help in the attempt to sink the Buff was Johnny Geilen, speedy forward.

Colonial hopes for victory seemed to lie in whether the Washington courtmen can duplicate their sudden brilliant outbreak of last season. The setting is the same—St. John's is the favorite; the result hadn't been decided when your correspondent filed this story.

In the second game of the twin bill, Long Island's crack Blackbirds will meet Duquesne in what is scheduled as the feature contest.

Advisory Plan Keeps Faculty At Work

• GIVING ADVICE on all sorts of subjects besides purely academic ones, the members of the Junior College Advisory Committee have found themselves kept busy for a number of semesters handling requests for guidance.

The advisory system is conducted by Dean William Crane Johnstone of the Junior College aided by Personnel Advisor Katherine Adams, Prof. Alan T. Deibert, advisor to students from foreign countries, and Prof. Donnell B. Young.

Students receiving warnings and otherwise falling below average in their grades are required to see certain members of the committee at stated intervals, as are scholarship holders. Students making average grades or better are also welcome to visit the office, but must do so on their own initiative.

But many requests for guidance on such extra-curricular subjects as jobs and marriage come to the advisors.

At the assembly for all entering freshmen last year, Dean Johnstone in an attempt to put the trembling youngsters at their ease, stated that they could come to him with any problems that they might have, including those of how to meet the gorgeous blonde who sat across the aisle in history class. Apparently, he was taken seriously.

University Opens Red Cross First Aid Courses This Week

Students to Receive Certificates at End
Of Courses; Enrollment Open to All

• RED CROSS COURSES in First Aid and Nutrition are getting underway at the University this week and next, with students in ten sections of standard First Aid courses learning bandaging, splinting, artificial respiration, and transportation of the injured.

They will receive Red Cross certificates at the end of the course.

Dr. Thelma Hunt of the Psychology Department announced yesterday that students can still register for some of the sections if they get in touch with her immediately.

A Red Cross class in Nutrition will be offered by members of the University Faculty every Tuesday and Thursday from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. for a period of five weeks starting next Tuesday, Miss Frances Kirkpatrick, Professor of Home Economics, announced.

At the end of the course, students will receive Red Cross Nutrition certificates and also become entitled to join the Volunteer Bureau of Civilian Defense as a Nutrition Aid.

Students, mothers of students, and faculty wives can register for the class at Dr. D. B. Young's office in Junior College or Miss Kirkpatrick's office in Building B, room 23. The first class will meet February 17, at 2:30 p.m. in room 12 of Building A, 2026 G Street, NW.

Cue 'n Curtain Casts Second Major Play

• POINTING Cue and Curtain toward its second major production of the school year, graduate director Floyd Sparks Sunday announced the complete cast for "The Octoroon."

Production dates have been set for February 26 and 27 at Pierce Hall.

In the title role as the one-eighth-Negro girl Zoe, will be Jean Joppialky. Opposite her as the swashbuckling hero, George Peyton, will be Bill Appleby. Completing the triangle, Bill Chenoweth will be featured as the mustache-twirling villain.

Typical of the triangle melodramas of the 18th century, the play is replete with the usual trials and circumstances of virtue and defending manhood.

Supporting the hero-heroine-villain triangle, Jean Connelly will appear as Dora, and Arnold Ostrow will take the part of Scudder. Others in the cast are: Bill McGee, Sue McNeese, Betty Owen, Yvonne Hussey, Tony Pritchard, George Byster, Ward Dvorak, Marjorie McCabe, Lois Smith, and Warner Schreiner.

Singers and dancers for the entracte are in great demand. Those interested should get in touch with Mr. Sparks at the Cue and Curtain office between 7:30 and 8:00 p.m. any day except Saturday.

Positions on the stage crew, construction crew, and others are also open. Interested persons should contact Cue and Curtain as soon as possible, so work can begin immediately.

Late Fee Waived Thru Tomorrow

• REGISTRATION for the second semester without fee has been extended through tomorrow. It has been announced. By paying the late fee of $5, registration may be made as late as Feb. 20. Students who have special problems regarding registration have been invited to discuss them with the University Registrar or appropriate Deans.

Students should not fail to register because they expect transfers to other cities. It was stated by President Floyd Heck Marvin since they will be permitted to complete their courses by independent study if they have finished approximately one-half of the term by the date of transfer.

Plans for Building Drive to Be Formed By Leaders Friday

• WITH A mass meeting of the officers from the General Staff through the captains and lieutenants on Friday, the fourth annual campus campaign for the Women's Activities Building will get under way. The meeting will be held in Gov. 102 at 4 p.m.

At this meeting the plans for contacting every woman student of the University for a contribution to the fund will be laid. Chief of Staff Betty Minson, director of the drive announced that Dr. Lowell J. Ragatz, professor of European History, and Miss Helen Lawrence, assistant professor of physical education, have been invited to speak to the meeting. Kitty HERSHEY, president of the Women's Athletic Association, will speak on the need for the building.

Book Shop Sales Low, Bacon Says

Book Shortage
Causes Demand
For More Texts

• WITH THE STUDENT Book Exchange scheduled to remain open for only one more week, Director Jim Bacon yesterday sent out a frantic call for more books, particularly those used in law, science, and English literature courses.

So far, according to Bacon, the business at the Book Exchange, located in Building F at 20th and G Sts., has been comparatively slack. Less than 200 books, being brought in by students. Gross sales are hovering around the $200 mark.

"We've got all kinds of books," said Bacon, "anything from Aeschylus to Zaratustra. They cover all the subjects offered at the University."

Many Books on Hand
Among the books in stock for which there is wide student demand are Psychology texts by Woodworth and by Vaineline, Public Speaking books by Sanford and Yeager, and Freshman English books. In addition there are many other books no longer used here as official texts. "These, however, are very useful for collateral reading to supplement regular class assignments," said Bacon.

The biggest turnovers have been in the English, Psychology, and Law departments. In other courses, particularly foreign languages, the texts have been changed so often that up-to-date books are more scarce.

Reduced Overhead Helps Students
At the Book Exchange students are able to save a considerable amount on their books, because overhead is reduced through the saving in rent and taxes.

The middleman is eliminated through the cooperative system used at the exchange. The workings of the system are simple: a student brings the books he has used during the past semester to the exchange, where he gets a value on the book. When the book is sold, he receives his asking price, minus a 10% commission to the bookstore. Thus, 90% of the high costs due to middlemen are erased.

The commission received by the exchange is given to the Student Council which in turn includes it in the activity fund for needful student groups.

At present, the bookstore is being run by Jim Bacon and his assistant, Bill Meeks. Another assistant is being sought. Due to student demand, the exchange will be open for longer hours next week, each day from 10 to 1 in the morning and from 4:30 to 7 in the evening.

Weddell Prize Contest Offers $150 Award

• THE ANNUAL Alexander Weddell prize of $150 will be awarded to the student writing the best essay on "The Promotion of Peace Among the Nations of the World."

Competition is open to any student registered for a degree, and contestants should register the specific titles of their essays with the chairman of the Committee of Judges, Dean Warren Reed West, in Gov. 204. Papers must be submitted by April 15th.

A class essay may be used as the basis for the paper, which should not be less than 3,000 words in length.

The committee to select the prize-winner consists of Prof. James Oliver Murdoch, Lecturer in Law, Dr. John Albert Tillema, Associate Professor of Political Science, Dr. Fred Salisbury Tupper, Assistant Professor of English, and Dean West.

Some suggested topics for the essay are: "Nationalism and Peace," "Factors in the Present World Situation Which Give Promise of Ultimate Cooperation for Peace," "Legislated Neutrality, 1935-1941," "Monetary Bases for International Trade and the Barter System," "International Regulation of Radio Broadcasting of Political Propaganda," "Freedom of the Seas in Peace and War," and "International Standards for the Treatment of Aliens." Other suggestions may be secured from members of the Committee, but students are free to select their own subject.

A former student of the University, Alexander Wilbourn Weddell is now Ambassador to Spain. He has served in the United States Diplomatic Service for more than twenty years.

Omicron Delta Kappa Elects Eleven Men to Membership In Ceremonies at All-U Prom

Selections Made
On Contribution
To University

• ELEVEN MEN reached the culmination of their campus careers Friday night when they were announced as members-elect to Omicron Delta Kappa, men's campus leadership fraternity. The tapping came as the traditional feature of the All-University Prom annual mid-season social highlight.

John Picco, Paul McClenon, Gordon Calvert, George Bishop, Bud Carlson, Kim Vought, Dick Burns, Bob Geran, Cole Reasin, Jack Bradley and Aaron Layne were added to the ranks of the honorary, as a recognition and reward for leadership in campus affairs and responsible service in office.

Chosen twice each year from the men of the campus, candidates for O.D.K. are selected on the basis of leadership, character, initiative, citizenship, and versatile contribution to the university life.

Following is a list of the positions of leadership for which the elected men were recognized:

John Picco: Whose sportsmanship and athletic ability have gained for him much merited national recognition and whose contribution to the competitive spirit on the campus has been great.

Paul McClenon: Comptroller of the Student Council to which office he has given outstanding service; 3.7 scholastic average; chairman of the Progressive party, and member of the Congress club.

George Bishop: President of Sigma Chi; Vice-Pres. and an outstanding member for three years of Cue and Curtain; member of the Student Council and Activities Council, and the Handbook staff.

Gordon Calvert: Chairman of the Co-op book sales; member of Interfraternity Council, and member of several winning intramural teams, Phi Kappa Alpha.

Bud Carlson: President of Sigma Chi twice; Business manager of Cue and Curtain; and member of Cue and Curtain for four years; Co-director of Buff and Blue room; member of the Student Life committee.

Kim Vought: Co-chairman of the Food Drive; member of interfraternity council; Freshman Director, Sigma Nu.

Dick Burns: President of the Senior Class, member of Interfraternity Council, Co-director of Cherry Blossom Drive, 3.3 average for over 90 hours, Acadia.

Bob Geran: President of Tau Kappa Epsilon, Vice-Pres. of the Student Council, director of Intramural debate, interfraternity council, Glee club 3 years, Student Chairman of the Civilian Defense Committee.

Cole Reasin: Varsity debate, speaker's bureau, Varsity, debate council, Delta Sigma Rho, coach of varsity debate, 3.0 average, national president of the intercollegiate model senate.

Jack Bradley: President Phi Sigma Kappa, Gate and Key, Alpha Kappa Psi, Interfraternity Council, Co-Director Food Drive.

Aaron Layne: Senior basketball manager, Cue and Curtain, Advertising Manager of the Hatchet, Treasurer and Secretary of Phi Sigma Kappa.

Marine Corps Liaison Officer To Interview Students Friday

• INTERVIEWING OF applicants for admission to the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve's Candidates' Class for Commission will take place here Friday, Speech Professor W. D. Bennett announced this week.

Lieut. Thomas F. Mullahey, Jr., U.S.M.C., who has been appointed Liaison Officer for the University, will receive the applicants in C-200 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 4 to 7 p.m. in Prof. Bennett's office in the new Auditorium.

From among those applying, fifteen seniors, eight juniors, and three sophomores will be chosen for training in the Candidates' Class, successful completion of which will entitle the candidate to a second lieutenant's commission. Final choice of eligible candidates will be made sometime next month, when physical examinations will be made.

To be eligible for training, applicants must be: unmarried (and agree to remain so); between five feet six inches and six feet four inches in height, willing to serve for the duration, candidates for B.A., B.S., or Engineering degrees, and able to pass the regular physical examination required for appointment to commissioned rank in the Marine Corps. Medical, dental, and theological students are not eligible. Nor are students already belonging to military organizations, including Army or Navy R.O.T.C.

Qualified applicants will be enlisted in the Reserve for four years and will be appointed privates first class and placed on the inactive list until called for training. Juniors and sophomores will be encouraged to remain on the inactive list until they complete their work towards their degrees. However, should the necessity arise for an earlier summons to active duty, at least six months notice will be given.

Candidates for admission to the course must pass a physical and present one year of college work. Total cost, including books, physical examination, and insurance, is $23 for the primary course and $31 for the advanced course.

Major Ames, University professor of Electrical Engineering now on duty in the Office of the Chief of the Air Corps, Operations Division, announced that applications for this training are still being accepted at his office in M. E. 311, on the corner of 21st and H streets. He also stated that classes will probably be resumed soon.

Candidates for admission to the course must pass a physical and present one year of college work. Total cost, including books, physical examination, and insurance, is $23 for the primary course and $31 for the advanced course.

In accordance with its policy of raising the spirit of the University, the club has agreed to help advertise the student yearbook, The Cherry Tree. The Rousers also have helped to wage a campaign to secure new members for the undermanned University band.

THE ROUSERS CLUB will hold a rally tonight at 8 p.m. in Gov. 102, which all freshmen have been requested to attend.

THE ENCORE THEATRE presented Maxine Finsterwald's play "The Ladder Under the Maple Tree" in the regular weekly broadcast Thursday at 10:30 p.m. over WVDC. Keith Adamson and Cherric Frost were the leads in this romantic comedy, supported by Jerry Locke and Bill Powers. Thursday the program will be a mystery drama, "The Black Death."

AROUND TO THE north side of the building, third door from the end, one can find the entrance to the only completed portion of the new auditorium, the speech department offices and studios, in the basement of the right wing.

The stairs to the right, leading up, are barricaded, because of the unfinished condition of the upper floors of the wing; those going down, go down and down far enough for two flights. Once at the end of the stairs, the explorer enters to a labyrinth, barricaded at one end, where the student lounge is to be, and at the other, where the Cue and Curtain workshop will be housed.

Studios Used for Classrooms
The hallway, which has only temporary lighting fixtures, and remains as yet unplastered, leads to the public speaking offices, and the radio studios and broadcast control room. For the present, the radio broadcast rooms are being used for classrooms.

There are three radio broadcast studios, of different sizes, in the basement of the auditorium, and a control room, from which programs may be piped into the commercial stations. Arrangements are to be made so that it will be possible for six programs to be sent at the same time out of the University auditorium. Programs can originate from each of the three studios, the stage of the auditorium, and from the two classrooms, to be located on the upper floors of the right wing.

Yeager Alone in Wing
Thus far, Dr. Willard Hayes Yeager, executive officer of the Public Speaking Department, is the only professor to occupy his office in the new building.

"These new facilities will give a real advantage to the radio speaking classes," Dr. Yeager said, "and we hope that we will soon be able to produce several programs a week over the commercial stations."

'On the State of The Hatchet'

• FOR MANY, THE BEGINNING of the second semester means the end of old troubles and the recognition of new ones. Instead of worrying about a term paper, the student's attention may be shifted to the deadline for six or eight book reports, a seminar report, or the decision of a draft board.

For The Hatchet, however, the same old problems appear every semester. Concern over the budget, the news coverage, and personnel continues with us, and the prospect of the publication of a newspaper entirely free from these worries does not appear to us as likely in the near future.

The Hatchet's basic aim is to inform the student body of campus activity. It would seem logical, therefore, that news coverage should be our first worry. It is. The other two—budget and personnel—are essentially sub-worries, but they are important because they prevent us from performing our chief duty.

So far this year, we have received several criticisms. The Engineers, through the Engineers' Council wrote to say that they believed they were not receiving fair representation. We have heard of similar complaints from the Law School, and certain professors. We welcome such criticisms, of course. They point out our weaknesses and allow us to make improvements where we had formerly believed no improvement was necessary.

If there are other objections we want to hear them. The Hatchet has always been a prize-winning paper, but resting on laurels is absurd and we realize it.

At present, we are stewing over our financial set-up. This year, The Hatchet suffered a thousand-dollar slash in its appropriation. This may sound rather odd inasmuch as we received the usual $3,600 from the University. Our problem here is and has always been advertising which supplies us with the rest of our revenue.

We are battling a trend of decreasing national advertising. Last year, a thousand-dollar contract was not renewed. Cigarette companies advertise less. We would not be carrying the ads of a nationally famous soft drink if we didn't have a contract which has not yet run out. When it does, we'll lose this customer.

This accounts mainly for the many four-page issues we have had to run this year. Four-pagers are heartily hated by every Hatchet staff member.

The Student Council through which we receive our appropriation has received the same amount of money from the University for some years. It has not seen fit to increase our allocation, therefore.

The connection between our budget and our coverage is clear enough. We cannot print as much news in four pages as we can in six pages.

Our third problem is one of personnel. The Hatchet News Staff is composed of about 40 members, right now. At the beginning of the year, we had close to 80. The reason for this is very simple. A lot of time is required of new staff members. Hatchet reporters and editors devote from two to thirty hours a week to the paper.

With no remuneration of any form present Hatchet members must be genuinely interested in the paper to sacrifice so much time. This type of person is rare. We have our share of glory seekers but the fact that The Hatchet, unlike many campus organizations, is run on a merit basis only, contributes in keeping the staff below optimum size.

The Hatchet is not asking for sympathy. What it desires is understanding and cooperation. If you have a beef, voice it. An idea to raise money, let us know. It's your paper.

A Mess of Porridge?

• ALL TOO SOON for our February graduates their collegiate career will come to an end. Four short years ago when they first entered the green-lined corridors of George Washington they had dreams. Whether their dreams have been fulfilled depends on how they, and they alone, have acted.

They have succeeded if they feel they have gotten all the college has to offer. They have failed if they regret not having studied on the one hand or not having gotten into activities on the other.

Too often students enter college with the single intent of making Phi Beta Kappa, being elected to ODK, or becoming an HATCHET editor. They gain their goal only to find that they have neglected other aspects of college life equally important. They have sold their birthright for a mess of porridge as it were.

The activities bug discovers the knowledge he has so cleverly circumnavigated is important, too. The bookworm suddenly realizes that the guy who said, "Success is not WHAT you know but WHOM you know," may have had something there.

Are you using your time to best advantage? Take an inventory of yourself, your aims and your ideals. NOW! If you do, perhaps you'll be among those lucky few who can tread across the stage at commencement with a smile on their face and a heart free from regrets.

Campus Caravan

• YOUR WANDERING reporter felt as if she were swirling through a series of cemeteries, as the Campus Caravan skimmed across the American camps. Fellow students lay prostrate from the onslaught of examinations, too feeble to face the approaching accelerated schedules, combined with the curtailments for defense.

I like exams. I think they're fun. I don't cram. And I never flunk one—I'm the teacher... hisses a QUEEN'S JOURNAL columnist between his teeth.

In preparation for defense, every undergraduate of the University of California is required to take a national service course, or take a major subject which will prepare him for work in the nation's defense. There is likelihood that the crowd ban on large gatherings, issued by the commander of the Fourth Army, may cancel Spring Commencement this year.

Plans for the proposed twelve-month school year at V. P. I. have been tentatively passed, as the deans receive their probable schedules.

The gals in the dormitory of Florida State College for Women are saving every scrap of paper for defense... Worse than a flu epidemic, according to THE FLAMBEAU, is the sudden mania for the charms of a brunette. It's quite the rage these days—anybody can do it. A few interesting variations are an occasional purple hair-do, a lassie with green tresses, and one with hair made prematurely grey, with powdered chalk. "But," remarks the reporter, "with the combination of exams and college girls, what can you expect?"

War has caused cuts in the budget, but has failed to dim the spirit of St. Lawrence University, which recently held its annual Winter Carnival on schedule.

The fellows at McGill University are sadly shaking their heads over the shocking slaughter of chivalry at the recent Damsels' Ball, when the female species vainly strove to master the complexities of social dance etiquette, usually taken care of by the male. Girls were caught leading off the dance with a forward step, dancing with others before seeing partners engaged for the next waltz, and suggesting where to go next instead of waiting for the gentleman fair to make the first bid. Among the major criminals were the girls who brought coffee, ice cream, and sandwiches all together, so that the first grew cold and the second warm while the third was still being eaten.

A morsel of poetry for the somnolent from the Augustana Observer:

They call her miss at 17;
They call her miss at 20;
They call her miss at 52;
She must have missed a plenty!
New girls' dorms are being opened this month by the University of Missouri at Columbia.
"But I'm alive!" argued dead Amund Daniel of Emory University. Officially Daniel passed away soon after birth. He learned of his unfortunate state when he sought to procure his birth certificate. "I don't know what happened, but darned if I'm not alive!" he ejaculated in disgust, strolling away to leave the campus wonder more seriously what that coffin is doing in the basement of his fraternity house.

For Freshman: Here's Your Alma Mater

• LAST WEEK a letter to the editor suggested that we print the words to the Alma Mater. The letter was signed by "J. K. B." who admitted he was a freshman. Here is the Alma Mater:

ALMA MATER
(George Roth)
Hail, Alma Mater!
To thy spirit guiding
Pledge we fidelity.
By thy name abiding.
Armored in courage,
Never from battle hiding,
Fearless—each loyal son.

For through the darkness
Like a lamp is shining
Knowledge, the handmaid
In her strength combining
With lofty brotherhood,
Never her place resigning.
Hail thee, George Washington.

For, as the patron
Midst the battle's dinning,
Clear-eyed and fearless
Saw his forces winning,
So for the war of life
Which we are beginning,
Arm us, George Washington.

Four Named in Beauty Contest

• WITH THE event only five weeks off, plans for the Cherry Tree Beauty Contest are virtually at a standstill, with only four candidates having been nominated: Kappa Gamma's Martha Brock, Chi Omega's Raye Hudson, Phi Phi's Peggy Kinsman, and Sigma Kappa's Edyth Coe. All organizations should have their candidates pictures in by Saturday.

Peace on Earth

Streit Aims for Peace, But 'Union Now' Doesn't Fill Bill

By C. JULES ROSE
• CLARENCE STREIT has developed a formula, which he believes will yield permanent peace for a war-sick world. In his initial work, entitled UNION NOW, Streit advocated a union of all the democracies to prevent aggression on the part of the totalitarian states. Realizing the United States and Britain are the most powerful of the democracies Streit's subsequent works have been devoted primarily to listing the advantages that would result from the union of these two major powers.

Streit proposes to have the Union managed by a two-housed Legislature modeled after our Congress. Each nation or dominion would have equal representation in the upper house where the sole power to make war and peace would reside. Admittedly the British Empire would hold a majority in this Senate, but Streit contends that the Dominions would be more apt to back the United States rather than blindly follow the lead of their Mother Country. Only the "self-governing peoples" of America and the British Empire would be represented in the lower house. We would surely dominate this body, Mr. Streit argues, for the United States has 132 million as opposed to the 47 million in the United Kingdom.

Wants to See Allies Win
Before we can objectively discuss this Union the writer feels it is necessary for him to assure his readers that he wants to see Britain win this war. No one but a mad man would contend our position would be bettered if Britain got knocked off.

Should your neighbor be attacked in the same dark alley as you it is natural you two would fight the thugs together. Once the gang is disposed of, however, the chances are you'll go your own separate ways again rather than live as one forevermore. In like manner the fact Britain and the United States are now allies doesn't mean it would be mutually advantageous for us to become permanently united.

Union now is based on the underlying principle that the Anglo-Saxon peoples should dominate the world. This necessarily assumes that all other peoples are to be held in check, if their ideas conflict with those of the members of the Union as to what is right and what is wrong. This brings up the basic philosophical question, "Are any people so wise, so good and so just that they may rightfully dominate all other men?"

Streit assumes that in the Senate of the proposed Union the Dominions would not necessarily vote as the Mother Country desires. But there is no valid reasoning to justify this assumption.

Britain plus the Dominions would constitute a permanent majority in the Senate that could easily outvote the United States. You will recall this Senate would have the sole power to declare war and make peace, so were an aggressive war undertaken by Britain & Co. we would have no alternative but to "go along." We could not withdraw as Streit favors an indissoluble union.

When we come to the lower house we find that an even greater paradox awaits us. Mr. Streit maintains that our 132 million could outvote the 47 million of the United Kingdom. After all the United Kingdom just consists of England, Scotland and Wales. What then of the Dominions? Would they be content to only be represented in the Senate? There are as we all know nearly half a billion subject peoples in the British Empire, would we be taxed to keep them in subjection so they would not become "free peoples" entitled to representation?

There is no executive to take care of administrative affairs in Streit's set up. History proves the uselessness of a government composed of a legislative body minus an executive head.

How the Union could exist without suitable courts to interpret the laws passed by the Congress and to restrain the Congress from exceeding its delegated authority is not apparent on the surface.

Mr. Streit's scheme seems unsound in principle and unworkable in practice. Yet he deserves credit for looking beyond the daily grind and doing some constructive thinking about the World of Tomorrow. Streit at least has presented a plan for securing world peace. This is more than most of his critics, myself included, have done.

Professors Have Perfect Answer For Frequent Student Gripe

ANNE CATHERINE EMMERT

• SO YOUR text has been changed again, and you're ready to go on strike? Sure, we know—you can't use your best friend's old books with all the chapters neatly outlined in the margin. And you can't borrow all of Jim's old notebooks, either. That makes it tough, doesn't it—to have to go to all the lectures the whole semester. Very inconsiderate of the professor! Wonder why he did it?

Well, he probably had a number of reasons. Professors don't change their textbooks for fun, you know; as we speedily discovered when we began asking them about it. When a professor is moved to change his text, it reveals that he is conscientious enough to be willing to rework all his lectures around the new book.

Professor Stone confessed that he has all his notes in one book, and every time he changes, he has to transfer them himself. He believes that it is a good idea, however, to change textbooks every three years in an English survey course for the simple reason that the second-hand copies get so full of students' notes that it is hard to decipher the material.

Dr. Ames of the School of Engineering told us that every time he introduces a new book to his classes, he has to work out every one of the problems in it, and then the students usually hit the roof because the going's so tough. For that reason, when he changes, he gets the best and latest book out, and uses it for years.

Professors in the law school, said Miss Newman, the law school librarian, rarely change their texts except to use later editions. It is essential that they keep up to date.

Although there are certain very old English cases which are still incorporated in the new books, a great many cases are decided between the old and new editions, many of which are selected for inclusion.

Dr. Jarman of the education department stated that the basic principles of good teaching are the same yesterday, today and forever. But just as clothes, made of the same materials, change constantly in styles, so do books on education present basically the same things, but differ in their methods of presentation. He uses the book which he thinks makes the material clearest and most interesting.

When books get out of date, said Professor Britt of the psychology department, he naturally gets newer and better ones. Psychology is a particularly fluctuating field. Knowledge is not static. What a professor teaches in 1942, he did not teach in 1932. And he certainly hopes it is not what he will be teaching in 1952. New things are daily discovered. This goes for any science.

So you see, the professors aren't just trying to be mean when they change your textbooks. They really have your interest at heart!

Buff Seek Fourth Conference Win at Tech

Five Plays Furman and Richmond

Virginia Easily Beaten 54-36 By Colonials

● RUNNING THEIR victory streak to four straight, the University basketball team defeated Virginia, 54-36, as Mad Matt Zunic set a new scoring record for George Washington.

The game was a complete rout from the start, the Buff leaving the floor at half time with a 26-8 advantage. Though the Cavaliers improved during the second half they were paced point for point by the Reinhartmen. It was only the brilliant play of their star forward Dick Wiltshire who scored 21 points, that kept his team in the game.

The Colonials will play host to the University of Furman this Thursday night at McKinnley Tech Gym. Currently in a tie for seventh place, both teams will be battling for an invitation to the Southern Conference Tournament next month. The Purple Hurricanes record at present stands at three wins and two losses, having dropped matches to South Carolina and The Citadel. However, they pulled a surprise rebound last weekend, defeating William and Mary, 37-35.

Saturday night the team will travel to Richmond to meet the Richmond Spiders. Currently holding a record of only one victory against four defeats the game will serve as an opportunity for the team to taper off before they take on the Duke Blue Devils.

The Spiders lone victory was at the expense of the Techmen of Virginia Poly. A revamped line-up will find Coach Reinhart substituting Myers, Groetzinger and Rausch freely in the starting five.

Freshman Five Loses 48-44 To YMCA

● HANDICAPPED by the loss of seven players because of scholastic difficulties, the University Frosh dropped a 48-44 decision to the District Y. M. C. A. team Saturday night on the last's court.

The Frosh with only a seven-man squad, several of whom have only recently come out for the team, lost despite the efforts of Si Wagman and Jack Ryan, the team's mainstays and the only two regulars left. Wagman was high point man for the night with 17 points. This brought his season total to 81 points for eight games.

Jack Ryan scored 16 points to bring his season total to 66 in eight games. Byrne, the Y's center, was high point man for his team, scoring 14 points. Glen Harges and Eddie Czekaj, Frosh football players; Jake Jacobus, a newcomer, and Bernie Cadel completed the Frosh lineup.

Coach Zahn has been placed in a very unenviable position since bad grades made so many of his players ineligible, but he stated last week while his remnants were working out, that the team's schedule would be played out. "A number of the Freshman football players played high school ball and will be out for the team," he said, and then proceeded to work with his "brains," as he calls Ryan, Wagman and Cadel.

Glenn Knox Paces S. C. Scorers; Matt Zunic Ninth

● BOASTING AN average of 16.4 for eight family games, Glenn Knox, William and Mary's sharpshooting star, returned to the Southern Conference scoring lead this week. Knox has compiled 131 points on 50 field goals and 31 points from the foul line to lead Maryland's Sophomore sensation, Ernie Travis, by 24 points.

Total points for the top scorers are:

Knox, Wm. and Mary	131
Travis, Maryland	107
McKinney, N.C. State	96
Cline, Wake Forest	96
Rose, North Carolina	92
Crawford, V.P.I.	87
C. Loftis, Duke	78
Westmoreland, So. Carolina	76
Zunic, George Washington	74

Joan Giles Would Take Scout Book to Desert Isle

● SHE HAS A passion for crazy jewelry and hot dogs, can't stand people without school spirit and asserts her greatest ambition is to work under Alice Marble in recreational activities.

Joan Giles, the Student Council's social chairman, was born in King Hill (just the other side of the Conoco Gas Station), Idaho, and today becomes The Hatchet's sports-woman of the week.

Joan found herself listed in Who's Who this year, and probably Mr. Nessel was not only thinking of her Student Council activities, but of her four years' service on the W. A. A. Board, that business management of Orchestras, Cue and Curtain prop collecting, and the energy and enthusiasm she displays on the sports field and in her sorority when they selected her.

High points in the Giles career are difficult to select, for after a survey of Washington newspapers it might seem probable that Joan has been swept from one flash bulb

Independents, Flower League End Sunday

● WITH COMPETITION in both the Flower and Independent Leagues scheduled to end this weekend, Intramural Director Al Haringer announced Saturday that playoffs for the League championships would begin around Feb. 20.

Round-robin play in the Independent League ends Sunday, Feb. 15, when the Colonials and Choppers, and the Engineers and Neversweats play. The first and third ranking teams will play on Feb. 20, as will the second and fourth teams. The winners of these two games will meet for the championship the following week.

Sunday, the Neversweats won over the Colonials on a forfeit. Teams scheduled to play in an 11 a.m. game failed to appear. Tomorrow night's games are: Neversweats vs. Choppers, Phantoms vs. Questionmarks. Friday night the Colonials play the Choppers and the Engineers meet the Neversweats.

The two finalists for the Flower League playoff will be decided Sunday when the Lillies and Bleeding Hearts, both of whom are tied with the Goldenrods for the League lead, meet in a 10 a.m. game. The Century Plants and Night Blooming Cereus also play Sunday morning.

Due to a University holiday on Monday, Feb. 23, the Flower League championship game will not be played on that date as formerly scheduled. It will, however, be played later in the week.

Rausch, Zunic Lead Colonials At Virginia

● SHOWING SOME of the form that made him the leading scorer on last year's Frosh five, Jimmy Rausch scored 12 points against the Cavaliers to lead all of the Colonials except Matt Zunic, who chalked up fourteen markers to maintain his 14-point average for the season, and bring his total for the season to 160 points.

Joey Gallagher plunked in four field goals and a foul for nine points and his best effort of the year, and Ted Reichwein scored seven.

Joe Gallagher plunked in four field goals and a foul for nine points and his best effort of the year, and Ted Reichwein scored seven.

Greek Pin Tourney Scheduled

Haringer Sets Tourney Dates For Badminton

● A MIXED doubles badminton tournament, scheduled to begin around March 6, was announced by Intramural Director Al Haringer Saturday. As in the past, competitors will be allowed to select their own partners and are urged to do so. Otherwise, those signing up to play will be matched with other entrants by the athletic office.

Both men and women's athletic departments will work together on this tournament, and hope to arrange the matches so that night students may compete without difficulty.

Haringer said that entry blanks would be posted in the Student Club and both athletic departments and urges all who plan to enter to do so at once.

Meanwhile, plans are rapidly being made for Intrafraternity bowling and table tennis competition. Intrafraternity Activities Chairman Bud Newell announced Sunday that bowling would begin next Saturday at Rendezvous alleys with six matches. Newell, who is replacing Herbert Lightfoot, said that "the identical rules governing last year's play would be observed again this year."

Newell is experimenting in that he is not setting a definite time for any of next Saturday's matches. "I'm leaving the time up to the teams involved this week," he said. "If it works out alright that way we will continue that way." He added, "but if it doesn't work I'll have to set definite times."

Competition will be in the form of round robin matches in two leagues. A playoff match between the two league winners will decide the championship. Last year Theta Delta Chi won the championship by defeating S.A.E.

Scheduled to meet Saturday in League A are: Theta Delta Chi vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon; Kappa Alpha vs. Sigma Nu; and Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Phi Sigma Kappa. League B matches will be between Sigma Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Sigma and Acacia, and Delta Tau Delta and Tau Kappa Epsilon. A complete schedule will be published next week.

Norman Dancy and Al Haringer are drawing up a table tennis schedule now, but none is available as yet.

Edsel Gustafson Out for Season

● EDSEL GUSTAFSON definitely won't play any more basketball this year, according to Dr. Richard Castell, University physician and team physician for the Colonials. Castell declared that Gustafson broke a metatarsal bone in his left foot, and while he may be able to walk on the injured foot by the time that the Southern Conference finals roll around, about March 7, he will not be in condition for any jumping, and "he wouldn't be much use to the team standing around on the basketball floor."

Gustafson, a sophomore, had developed a bad cold this season, and he had become particularly effective at retrieving the ball off the backboard. Coach Reinhart, on the eve of the important St. John's battle, has selected Teddy Reichwein to replace him in the center position, and has been drilling him intensively in an effort to prepare him for the Redmen.

Reinhartmen Idle But Hold Place in S. C.

● ALTHOUGH THEY were the only team in the league that didn't play a Conference game last week, the Colonials maintained their hold on seventh place in the Southern Conference standings with a record of three games won and two lost. Still leading the loop is Duke University with an unblemished record in nine games.

Biggest gains of the week were credited to South Carolina and Wake Forest. The Gamecocks jumped from fourth place to second by virtue of victories over The Citadel, 47-27, and Clemson, 62-43, and the Deacons won no less than three games, beating VMI, North Carolina State, and Washington and Lee, to up their season's record to 7 and 3 and catapult them from eighth to fifth place.

Conference standings:

	W.	L.	Avg.
Duke	9	0	1,000
South Carolina	5	1	857
William and Mary	6	2	750
Washington and Lee	5	2	719
Wake Forest	7	3	700
North Carolina	6	3	667
George Washington	3	5	600
Furman	3	2	600

Zunic Cracks Scoring Mark Set By Forrest Burgess

Rings Up 14 Markers Against Virginia To Break Ten-Year 544 Record

● "MAD" MATT ZUNIC, the New Kensington, Pa. tornado and pride and joy of the entire University, Tuesday night set a new basketball scoring record for the Colonials as he led the Buff and Blue to a lopsided 54-36 victory over the Cavaliers of Va.

Zunic entered the game needing only 6 points to top the record 544 set by Forrest Burgess in 1930-31-32, and promptly added 14 points to his 539 total to exceed Burgess' record by 7 points.

Only last year Zunic broke Bob Faris' record for one season, scoring 243 points, one more than Faris. Zunic's record shattering basket, which meant little more than two more points to the 2000 spectators, came midst a barrage of scoring by the Colonials, but his great all-around play earned him a well-earned ovation as he left the floor at half time.

Because he was ineligible part of his Freshman year Zunic was hardly a ball of fire, but he blossomed forth in his Sophomore year, scoring 150 points. Then last year as a Junior he rolled up his record total of 243 markers against some of the country's finest teams, and followed it up with 146 points in his first 10 games this year.

Zunic's great competitive spirit and relentless drive have earned him his nickname, "MAD" MATT. for he doesn't know what the word quit means when he gets on a basketball court, or even in a practice scrimmage.

Picco in Hospital With Bad Knee

● HOPING TO rid himself once and for all of the knee trouble that has bothered him for the past year, Johnny Picco, star end and All-District selection in 1940, entered the University hospital Wednesday for an operation.

A torn cartilage, which kept him idle all last season, has bothered Picco consistently, but the hospital reported to The Hatchet yesterday that the operation was a success.

Coed Fencers Beat Goucher, Hood Teams

● COED FENCERS started the semester with a touche last Saturday when four of them traveled to Hood for a three-way meet with Goucher, and won.

The match was on an informal basis, with three strips working. Fortified by cokes and donuts the three colleges fenced on the average of five bouts apiece. The winners on each strip were Esther Millon and Bobby Border from Goucher and Shirley Schafer from G.W. These three contestants fenced each other for the winner of the day and G.W. won, 4 to 1 touches each time. Miss Jenny Turnbull acted as director, while coaches of Hood and Goucher acted as judges.

In performance the meet showed good parry technique and footwork. Groups are looking forward to the return match at G.W. on the 28th.

Defense, Yes, But Rushing Must Go On

• NATIONAL DEFENSE may necessitate the condensation of four years of college into two and one-half, male students may all be coming to class in uniforms, first-aid may become a required course, night classes may find it unusual not to take place during air raids, but, one thing will remain constant—rushing will continue.

One of the most important questions confronting "rushers" is what to substitute for cokes, the standby of former years, now just one more "bottleneck" caused by priorities. "Coke parties" have always been particularly important in mid-semester rushing.

Formal rushing starts Wednesday and will inaugurate a hectic two weeks of sleeplessness, worry and tension for a considerable portion of the campus population. Wednesday new students will declare their intentions—whether they do or don't wish to be sucked into the exciting whirlpool or maelstrom.

On Thursday "open houses" will be held. This marks the beginning of the real fray. Only a few formal parties have been announced.

Besides the complication of a coke shortage there is a shortage of another important commodity, women. So far only twenty-seven girls have registered as full-time day students.

No "rushes" may be asked for a date except after 9 o'clock on the day that the date is to take place. The Student's Club and Quigley's will be the scenes of many minor engagements.

Junior Panhellenic To Stage Dance Thursday Night

• THURSDAY EVENING the Junior Panhellenic Council's Valentine Dance will be given in the Hall of Nations at the Washington Hotel from 10 to 1.

Pledge delegates to the Council will be presented to the daffers at the Prom. Officers of the Council and their escorts will lead the grand march before intermission. President of the Council, Gen. Weder and her escort, Ted Sonnenberg, and the Social Chairman, Martha Sebree, Pi Beta Phi delegate, and her escort, Hal Moore, come first with other members of the Council following in order of their founding on campus. Sorority pledges will fall in line behind them.

Tickets for the Prom are at $1.00 and can be purchased from any Council member. With her ticket each pledge receives a stag ticket to dispose of as she will. Joe Baldwin and his 11-piece orchestra will play.

Herzog Speaks Before D. A. R.
• HENRY W. HERZOG, Comptroller of the University, spoke on the subject "Educational Contributions to National Defense" at a meeting last night of the student loan committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the chapter house.

This committee administers the loan fund established by the D. A. R. for the benefit of students of the University.

Dan Cupid Shoots Love Arrows for Valentine's

By GINNY MADISON

• VALENTINE, the tide of love and sentiment, presages a number of froths just now, in est:

HUNTER-FISCHER

Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Benwood Hunter announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances Elizabeth, to Richard Henry Fischer, son of Mrs. Hubert F. Teitman and Mr. Melvin F. Fischer of Washington.

The bride-elect received her bachelor of science degree at the University of Maryland and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity.

Dick received a bachelor of science degree from George Washington University and now attends the medical school as a junior. He belongs to Alpha Kappa Kappa fraternity.

The wedding is scheduled for the Easter holidays.

WILLIARD-SCHAFFERT

Nancy Williard was married to Thomas Henry Schaffert this week after a whirl of pre-nuptial parties by the Army and Navy set.

John Leonard Schaffert served his brother as best man at the white satin affair which was followed by a reception at the home of Col. and Mrs. Ramsey, where guests were received in the drawing room. Mrs. Ramsey wore an Alice blue gown with a corsage of orchids, and Mrs. Schaffert wore dusty rose and petunia, and was corsaged in orchids.

The bride is a descendant of Deacon Samuel Chapin of Springfield, Massachusetts. She was graduated from Harcum Jr. College at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

Thomas is descended from Virginia families and attended George Washington University and Columbia University.

The bride wore a brown costume suit trimmed with brown squirrel and orchids for traveling.

KASBAUM-MADSEN

Sigma Nu announces the engagement of Raymond Kasbaum to his home-town sweetheart, Merle Madsen, who has come to Washington to be a government girl.

McNALLY-HOLLENBECK
Agnes Anne McNally and Laverne C. Hollenbeck were married in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament in Baltimore, Saturday, February 7. Laverne is a student at George Washington University. The couple will honeymoon in Florida.

MORGAN-DALE
Pi Phi announces the marriage of Nancy Morgan to Tommy Dale in California on January 9.

SEIDEMANN-KLASSE
The engagement of Faye L. Seidemmann to James Klasse is announced this week. James is a Teke.

ROVINSKI-STANLEY
Helen Rovinski announces her engagement this week to Bob Stanley, Tau Kappa Epsilon. Both are students in the School of Medicine.

GATES-HISLOP
Teddy Gates, Chi Omega, will be married to Pat Hislop on St. Valentine's Day at Hamline Methodist Church.

Delphi Initiates Two

• THURSDAY Delphi, honorary for sorority women, will initiate two new members, Jeanne Malden, Kappa Delta, and Kitty Hershey, Sigma Kappa. The ceremony will take place in Columbian House before the Rush Open Houses.

Pat is a student at Norwich University in Vermont where he is a Phi Kappa Delta.

HENDRICKS-THOMPSON
Chi Omega Ellene Hendricks makes public her engagement to Blake Thompson, SAE.

Slide Rule Slants

By RANDALL and HOLCOMB

• THERE SHOULDN'T be any need to tell you about the ball, but just in case you've all been asleep here's the stuff: This will be the 11th Annual Engineers' Ball, sponsored by the Engineers' Council. It will be in the new Shoreham Ballroom, Friday, Feb. 20, 1942, from 10 to 1, with music by Phil Lampkin and his orchestra. Be sure to tell everyone you know that tickets are $2.20 a couple, or a co-op book.

Last year's dance drew a crowd of over 500 people, from the whole University. Let's make this year's dance even bigger!

The Mixer's Tomorrow
You should certainly know by now that the regular second, semester Engineers' Mixer will be tomorrow night, 8:15 p.m., in the basement of the Hall of Government. The program is more or less a secret, but, judging from past successes, this one holds great promise of being an enjoyable evening, and, of course, there will be plenty of refreshments, as there always are.

Engineers and the War
Of interest to all engineering students is a letter received by Dean Felker from Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, stating that all draft boards have been advised to defer engineering students, because they are so important in the war effort. Dean Felker's Office has been successful in getting deferments for many students so that they may continue their technical training.

The War and Activities
Now, more than ever, it will be to your advantage to attend all the meetings of the engineering societies. There's plenty to learn that you won't have time to learn in classrooms. National defense and the war effort will undoubtedly be stressed, so let's get out to the meetings.

With the added burden of work during the war there is no doubt that night students will have less time to devote to running the activities. Therefore, it is now essential that all the day students take a more active part.

Engineers to Hold 11th Annual Dance On Friday Night

• THE 11TH ANNUAL Engineers' Ball will be held Friday, Feb. 20, from 10 to 1, in the new Shoreham Ballroom, featured by the music of Phil Lampkin and his Orchestra.

The dance, which is formal, is sponsored each year by the Engineers' Council, and is open to the entire University. The night of Feb. 20 has been closed by the Student Council to all other social functions on the campus.

Tickets are $2.20 per couple, including tax. Co-op books will also be honored for admission.

Mrs. Johnstone To Speak Friday

• "SHALL WE TALK PEACE While War Continues?" will be the subject of a talk by Mrs. William C. Johnstone at 2:30 p.m., Friday, before the Faculty Women's Club of the University. The Club will meet at the Self-Help Exchange House, as guests of the Director, Mrs. Henry G. Doyle. Mrs. Johnstone is the wife of the dean of the Junior College.
